

eulogy to pbh

1926-2016

first recorded on 9.7.16 - the day pbh moved on to a far away galaxy

We have lost a great friend. A born teacher, a wonderful father, and a model husband. I count Philip as my FIRST and only mentor, with whom I had the privilege of spending hours and hours in conversation about our mutual love of physics, mathematics, music, computers, and the amazing, wonderful universe that God created for all of us. Our friendship spans 45 years, and I still think of myself as simply one of his students. What an honor it has been to know him. He has blessed my life. I will miss you Philip. We will have a lot to catch up on when I join you in the next life.

Marilyn, we love you.
